About TRAERF

The T.R. Anantharaman Education and Research Foundation (TRAERF) was established on September 23, 2009, in Hyderabad, India, in recognition of its pioneering contributions of Professor T.R. Anantharaman (commonly known as "TRA"), a pioneer in Metallurgical Engineering, in furtherance of education and research in the fields of materials science and materials engineering. This Foundation has been specifically set up to carry on his missionary work and is dedicated to the advancement of knowledge in these fields, as well as the furtherance of research and education in materials science and materials engineering.

About DMSRDE and About AMMTPS-2019

Defence Materials and Stores Research and Development Establishment (DMSRDE) is present form was constituted in 1970 by the merger of three establishments: Ordnance Research & Test laboratory (Materiel), Ordnance Stores Research & Development Establishment and Defence Institute of Science and Defence Establishment. DMSRDE has continuously progressed into an important laboratory of DRDO nominated to conduct R&D activities in non-proprietary and functional materials keeping in view of the present and future requirements of the Indian Defence services and the new programmes of DRDO.

DMSRDE has been chosen to host this special event in order to conduct focused discussions among Indian scientists, particularly by ISRO system developers of DRDO, to list down the major goals of the seminar:

1. To evolve roadmaps for the development and deployment of advanced materials.
2. To develop a new research strategy and to identify critical areas of materials science research.
3. To foster a collaborative research environment among Indian scientists and to strengthen the existing research infrastructure.

About Kamrup

Kamrup is one of the oldest and most historic cities of Assam. Situated on the banks of the Brahmaputra River, Kamrup has been an important center of commerce and culture for centuries. The city was founded by the Kamata Dynasty between 13th and 15th centuries. Kamrup is also an important location for the Kamrup-Mura region, which includes Dibrugarh, Jorhat, and Sivasagar districts.
